

Cross-examination workshop for dispute resolution lawyers

To be held in person in London, on 5 June 2024

With an increasing number of claims filed across the world, are you prepared to advocate for your client? Sharpen your advocacy skills in a mock trial.

As part of London International Disputes Week, EY is proud to announce our upcoming cross-examination workshop.

Details

This event will provide you with an opportunity to hone your cross-examination skills, alongside an EY expert at a mock hearing.

Participants will be given a five-week period to prepare and access their experts before attending a mock hearing, led by a tribunal of senior legal practitioners and members of the EY Forensic & Integrity team.

This event will make use of expert reports assessing damages for expropriation in the context of an investor-state arbitration brought by a social media company.

Please note that the number of spaces available for this training session is limited. Once you have registered via the link (to the right), EY will reach out separately to confirm your place.

Once your place is confirmed, it is important that you attend all phases of the training session. Given the structure of this training session, it is challenging to reallocate spaces after the kick-off meeting. Therefore, please consider your availability before registering.

This training session will require approximately 10 to 12 hours of your time (including your own preparation time and attendance during a kick-off meeting, meetings with your expert and a mock hearing).

Ad-hoc access to your EY Expert:	29 April to 4 June 2024 (five-week period)
